Germany is celebrating - join the party!

Thursday, 9 November 1989 represents a dramatic turning point in European history - a peaceful revolution, in which two German states were reunited after forty years of separation. To celebrate this hugely significant historical event, DW-TV will be broadcasting a 24-hour live event from 7 a.m. with coverage of the most poignant moments and the tense and tragic background of European division. From two glass studios at the Brandenburg Gate and Potsdamer Platz, the DW-TV team will relive the dramatic events of 1989, with contemporary witnesses and politicians recounting their experiences. Documentaries and reports, along with the highly acclaimed animated film Eingemauert! (Walled In!), will give viewers a remarkable insight into the most important event in German post-war history. Follow the celebrations on DW-TV or via live stream at DW-WORLD.DE and get an even more detailed picture of the events with a range of dossiers and reports.

Join the DW team as they embark on a journey to the very roots of reunified Germany, and discover why the end of the Cold War was marked with fireworks, not gunfire.
